CO-SPONSOR AGREEMENT

The 2014 International Space Development Conference will bring together all parts of the space community, from astronauts to entrepreneurs, scientists to policymakers, and professionals to enthusiasts. The conference will present a wide variety of space topics, including civil, commercial and scientific developments and discoveries. ISDC has a long tradition for being a cooperative effort.

Co-sponsor organizations and institutions will receive the following benefits.

Benefits

- Co-sponsors are given ‘Member’ registration rates
- Introduces the Co-sponsor to non-members who may become interested in joining
- Reduced rate on exhibitor space
- One free registration for Co-sponsor staff (meals must be purchased separately).
- Recognition in conference publications, advertising and on the conference website

Agreement

- Co-sponsor agrees to publicize and promote ISDC attendance to its membership. Efforts should include email notice to members, notice or link on organization website and potential inclusion in organization newsletter.
- Co-sponsor provides logo artwork and approximately 25 words about the organization or institution and its contribution to ISDC, for promotional uses, within 7 days of this agreement.
  - Web logo 72 dpi, 110x110 pixels maximum size
  - Print logo 300 dpi, 1.5 inches max width, height - eps format preferred.
- Co-sponsor agrees to contribute to the success of the Conference, with specifics to be arranged and agreed between Co-sponsor and Conference leadership. For example, on an individual basis, organizations can assist or lead programming of a particular subject track related to their specialization.

Contributions

No financial contribution is required. However, each Co-sponsor is encouraged to make a nominal cash contribution to the Conference, depending on its ability.
